What is EziSample

A simple, contact management and price book database all rolled into one. EziSample allows issuing and tracking of shop samples via barcodes that are scanned using a hand-held barcode scanner. Appro dockets can be printed for the customer with or without prices showing any specials or promotions running at the time of issue and when the special pricing or promotion ends. The return date for the sample can be set, or overwritten at issue time. Reporting allows you to see who has what sample, when it is due for return and the price it was issued at.

Price Book Integration

Price books can be maintained with a simple to use pricing updater. Alternatively pricing can be updated from Excel spreadsheets from your supplier. Specials can be inputted running between a range of dates that automatically expire when the last day is reached. Mail merge a letter to each customer informing them of the pending expiry of the special and the new pricing thereafter.

Bar Code Creation & Scanning

In built barcode creator that prints and numbers your samples both for asset tracking and unique identification. Customised printing allows you to fit the barcode to any label and print from any point forward to reduce label wastage. Barcodes can be printed in-house using any off-the-shelf laser printer. Special sticky stain & damage resistant labels can be ordered if required for difficult surfaces like the hessian backing of carpets.

Sample scanned by pointing a hand held scanner at the barcode. Scanner can be mounted on a stand for hands-free convenience if required. Barcode can be used as a price check tool displaying any special pricing or promotions.

Reporting

Reports show who has what sample out, when it is due for return and the price it was issued at. An Appro docket can be printed showing all samples issued, the customer pricing point and any special or promotion the sample is part of—including when the special or promotion expires. Report on which colours and sample ranges are the most popular using the Best Sellers report.
